

MR. WELLMAN SCORED.

Lawyer Grant Denounces Him for the Arrest of Levy.

Dramatic Eloquence in the Court of General Sessions.

The Ex-Ward Man Pleads Not Guilty and Is Put Under $5,000 Bail.

Ex-Ward Man Jeremiah S. Levy, formerly of the Eldridge street police station, and who was arrested yesterday on a charge of bribery in receiving blackmail from Charles Krumm, proprietor of Kuenster Hall, 167 Chrystie street, was arraigned before Judge Cowing in Part I. of the Court of General Sessions to-day by Inspector Conlin. He pleaded not guilty, with the privilege of withdrawing the plea to demur later.

Bail was placed at $5,000. He had not secured a bondsman, and was allowed to take a seat outside the pen while bail was being secured.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

Lawyer Grant, who associated with Levy in the case, appeared for Levy, in the absence of Grant.

ST. LOUIS HAS AN EARTHQUAKE.

And Memphis Comes in for Three Distinct Shocks.

Chairs Rooked and Dishes Moved in the Missouri Metropolis.

(By Associated Press.)

ST. LOUIS, July 18.—A slight shock of a supposed earthquake was felt in this vicinity about 7:10 A. M. to-day.

The shock was not so noticeable in the city proper, but in the suburbs houses were so shaken that pictures rattled on the walls, chairs rocked and dishes on tables moved.

In no case so far reported was the shock sufficient to do even indirect damage.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 18.—Three distinct earthquakes were felt here at 6:30 o'clock this morning.

The vibrations were from north to south.

The shocks lasted about four seconds. They were felt throughout the surrounding territory in West Tennessee. Chandeliers swayed and dishes on shelves rattled, but no damage was done.

WANTS DONOVAN ARRESTED.

Plumber Anderson Says the Supervisor Threatened Him.

In the Myrtle Avenue Police Court, Brooklyn, to-day Henry Anderson, a plumber, of 238 E. Kalb avenue, applied to Justice Hagerty for a warrant for the arrest of Supervisor Lyman Donovan, of the Twenty-second Ward, who is Chairman of the Committee of the Hall of Records.

Anderson alleges that Donovan threatened to assault him because he referred to him as "the Supervisor of the Twenty-second Ward." Instead of "Mr. Donovan," he wants Donovan put under bonds to keep the peace.

Anderson was recently employed to make some repairs in the Hall of Records. He presented a bill for the work and he claims that Donovan objected to it at a meeting of the Board, causing him a delay in getting his money.

Anderson says that while at work on another job in the building, another plumber appeared on the scene and said that he had been sent by Donovan to finish the work.

Anderson filed a protest with the Master Plumbers' Association, and all parties were summoned to attend a hearing at 115 Washington street last night. Donovan was present as a witness, and the hearing was held in the afternoon.

Investigation was going on Mr. Anderson referred to Mr. Donovan as the "Supervisor of the Twenty-second Ward," and Donovan, he declares, flew into a wild frenzy and shouted:

"Now, I want to see you and to wipe the floor with you right here and now."

Several persons interfered and the matter was adjourned to to-morrow. Mr. Anderson was told to appear in court again to-morrow.

DEMANDS HIS CHILD.

Little Josephine Georgy Produced in the Supreme Court.

Josephine Georgy, four years old, was produced before the Supreme Court, Chambers street, to-day by her mother, Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

THE BAD BOGIE MAN.

He Frightens the Good Little Gould Children.

SPORTING MISCELLANY.

Should the weather be clear to-night it is expected that at least 3,000 persons will visit Travers Island to witness the regular "Ladies Day" held by the New York Athletic Club.

The committee having charge of the affair has left nothing undone to make the event a most successful one.

Rogers' Seventh Regiment Band of over fifty pieces has been engaged for the occasion and will perform in the last race of the day.

The bicycle section of the St. George Athletic Club, numbering about twenty-five riders, will start Sunday morning next from Fourteenth street and Broadway and journey out to Plainfield, N. J.

A valuable prize will be given the winner of this race.

The Yale team seems to be winning all sorts of flattering notices from the English press since their defeat. Even the London "Times" has written a long article on the subject.

Donovan, he declares, flew into a wild frenzy and shouted:

"Now, I want to see you and to wipe the floor with you right here and now."

Several persons interfered and the matter was adjourned to to-morrow. Mr. Anderson was told to appear in court again to-morrow.

DEMANDS HIS CHILD.

Little Josephine Georgy Produced in the Supreme Court.

Josephine Georgy, four years old, was produced before the Supreme Court, Chambers street, to-day by her mother, Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

The child was produced in the case of Mrs. Mary Georgy, who is suing for the return of the child.

SHEEHY HAS SPORRY TASTES.

McNeil Says He Speeded the Ward's Island Boat for Fun.

Tells Stories of Abuse Before the Lunacy Commission.

The investigation into the condition of the insane asylum on Ward's Island was continued this morning before the State Lunacy Commission at the Park Avenue Hotel.

Ralph McNeil, a civil engineer, who had been employed by Architect Edlitz to superintend the putting in of the steam-heating plant at Ward's Island and at Central Islip, was the first witness.

An old locomotive boiler used for steam heating and deemed unsafe was repaired and put in the "Annex" for the same purpose.

Witness stated that after making an investigation of the old steam plant he found it so unsafe that he recommended that the whole system be replaced with new and modern appliances.

Witness suggested putting in a new system of steam heating and ventilation, but Mr. Macy opposed it.

According to the witness, Dr. Macy has several ideas in regard to ventilation.

He does not appear to approve of ventilation," said the witness.

Mr. Macy told me that a man on the deck of the boat had been seriously injured by a fall from the boat.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

Witness said that he found out later that the boat had been damaged by a fire.

BASEBALL CHAT.

Baseball was the game advertised in Philadelphia yesterday between the Phillies and the Bostonians. It takes two to play a game, but baseball wasn't the game that the crowd saw at the ball park in Quaker City from the eighth to the eighth inning. They saw an exhibition of sulks and infantile petulance and tricky procrastination on the part of the Bostonians that completely aspersed the spectators who paid their money to see baseball.

In the eighth inning the Phillies made seven runs, while the Bostonians, led by Tucker, resorted to dilatory tactics in order to delay the game until darkness and have the score go back to the seventh inning, when it stood 2 to 1 in Boston's favor.

The Bostonians would not try to put a Quaker out, and finally eleven runs were made before the Phillies were retired through their own efforts. Then the Bostonians refused to go to the bat in their inning, and Dan Campbell, a substitute umpire, awarded the game, 9 to 0, to Philadelphia. Here is what followed as the teams were leaving the field:

It seemed as though the crowd had a preconceived plan to attack Tucker, for they fairly swarmed around this player before he had gotten three steps from first base.

"Smash Tucker!" "Mob him!" and such cries were raised.

Tucker, his face as white as the tan would allow, was guarding himself from the mob on the benches and the players of the Philadelphia Club, were fighting like Trojans to drive the men back, and fully three thousand people were in the grandstand, some using the benches as a hiding place and others a few of the players.

Suddenly one young man, older than the rest, sprang ahead of a man in front of the crowd and with all force drove his left hand squarely into Tucker's face. Blow after blow was showered at the almost defenseless man, who fell to the ground.

By this time the policeman had gotten the mob somewhat under control, and while Tucker was being rushed to the hospital, Tucker rushed for a bat, but was prevented from using it and was shoved into the grandstand by the police.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

Some of the men then turned their attention to the other players, but they were quickly put down by the police and a rush was made for the exits.

A double line of policemen was drawn up between the entrance at Fifth street and Huntington streets and the "bus" and the players, nearly all of whom were trembling with rage, were ordered to leave the field.

STAGE NEWS AND GOSSIP.

Empire Theatre to Open with "The Masqueraders."

"1492" People Getting Tired of Their Vacation.

It is pretty well settled that the Empire Theatre will open its season with "The Masqueraders," Henry Arthur Jones's play that was produced in London for the first time April 28. The drama, according to news just received, will end its London career for the present season at any rate with July, and Jones's enemies are declaring that the hot weather found out the weak spot of "The Masqueraders" very quickly.

It was the gambling scene of the third act that carried this play through three months, and this episode will not stand the test of common sense. Still, Charles Frohall has a secret. The American rights, and it is understood that preparations are already being made for the New York production. There are twenty-two people in the unusually long cast, but the hero, heroine and villain carry the burden of the piece on their shoulders.

The play is in four acts, which are respectively placed in the Grand Hotel and assembly rooms at Clandover, a London drawing-room, where an entire act is devoted to the scene of the play.

The play is in four acts, which are respectively placed in the Grand Hotel and assembly rooms at Clandover,